

ARMENIAN IDENTITY IN THE 21ST CENTURY

INSTRUCTOR: DR. KHATCHIG MOURADIAN

Explore factors that shape and reshape Armenian identity around the globe in this 4-week seminar. Classes feature short films, music compositions, and texts by contemporary artists and intellectuals, followed by discussion sessions with Professor Mouradian and invited guests. The class is for adults.

DR. KHATCHIG MOURADIAN is a lecturer in Middle Eastern, South Asian, and African Studies (MESAAS) at Columbia University. Mouradian has taught courses on imperialism, mass violence, urban space and conflict in the Middle East, the aftermaths of war and mass violence, and human rights.

Mouradian is also the author of articles on genocide, mass violence, and unarmed resistance, the co-editor of a forthcoming book on late-Ottoman history, and the editor of the peer-reviewed journal The Armenian Review.
